

CORPORATE SECURITY SYMPOSIA

IN TODAY'S DYNAMIC AND EVER-EVOLVING THREAT ENVIRONMENT, IT IS ESSENTIAL FOR PUBLIC AND PRIVATE SECTOR PARTNERS TO COORDINATE AND COLLABORATE.

It is only by building relationships and proactively sharing information that we can grow our knowledge base and protect the United States and the companies within it.

The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Office of Intelligence and Analysis (I&A) Private Sector Engagement provides continual opportunities for public and private sector entities to engage with one another.

The Private Sector Engagement Corporate Security Symposia (CSS) are a series of regional daylong conferences held around the country to generate discussion among public and private sector partners regarding some of the most challenging issues our nation faces today. Face-to-face events provide a number of benefits such as professional networking and knowledge gathering.

OVERVIEW

The CSS provides a forum for public and private sector partners to discuss current and emerging security threats relevant to their regions, with a strong focus on the businesses, infrastructure, and cyber security systems within them.

Events feature prominent speakers from both the public sector and the private sector who shed light on how to best leverage corporate security efforts and analytic capabilities to address issues such as: cyber security, infrastructure protection, global intelligence, communications, border security, and insider threats.

PAST COMPANIES THAT HAVE HOSTED A CORPORATE SECURITY SYMPOSIA INCLUDE BLOOMBERG, MCDONALD'S, GODADDY, MICROSOFT, BANK OF AMERICA, AND TARGET.
