Good morning –

We have had the pleasure of engaging with many (but not all) of you on the proposed DHS Disinformation Governance Board. We are excited to share that we have a draft charter (attached) ready for your review as your offices/ components are proposed members of the DHS Disinformation Governance Board.

The attached draft charter will be circulating to you via execsec, but we wanted you to be aware that this is coming your way today.

We will schedule time for us all to convene on Thursday to discuss any feedback as we are keen to get this finalized this week.

Good morning –

We have had the pleasure of engaging with many (but not all) of you on the proposed DHS Disinformation Governance Board. We are excited to share that we have a draft charter (attached) ready for your review as your offices/ components are proposed members of the DHS Disinformation Governance Board.

The attached draft charter will be circulating to you via execsec, but we wanted you to be aware that this is coming your way today.

We will schedule time for us all to convene on Thursday to discuss any feedback as we are keen to get this finalized this week.

Hi Sam, just one suggestion which we can certainly provide via ESEC channels as well. The DHS Open Source Information Working Group (OSIWG), charged by S1 in June to better understand the current and potential use of open source and publicly available information, with a specific focus on how it may be used to detect and address threats from domestic terrorism/domestic violent extremism, has developed and circulated a draft report via ESEC. Hi, totally missed this! The draft report went through review via the working group a few months ago, and then went through formal review/clearance via ESEC. The CTTT team had been working to adjudicate comments and has close to a final version that I think they were providing to you soon – would assume for review/clearance. I think it would be ideal to (b)(5)

Looped in Lucian as well in case he had any additional insight.

Kevin – thank you.

I look forward to discussing at our meeting. I don't know where the open source working group package currently stands and I don't think Rob has reviewed. As S1 has not approved the package or viewed let's discuss whether it is notable to call out in the foundational charter for this body at this juncture when we meet.

I don't see an edit in the attachment!
