

Homeland Security Information Network-Intelligence (HSIN-Intel)

HSIN-Intel is a secure community that connects Federal, State, Local, Territorial and Tribal partners and promotes the exchange and analysis of controlled, unclassified intelligence and threat related information.

HSIN-Intel Purpose

- Foster community and coordination between fusion centers and homeland security partners across the nation
- Disseminate timely intelligence derived from SLTT, DHS, Federal partners and the Intelligence Community
- Exchange of raw information during national or regional incidents
- Provide a secure, single-access point to unclassified intelligence data which authorized stakeholders may access from anywhere at any time

HSIN-Intel Member Benefits

- Access to the national network of fusion centers analysts and intelligence professionals
- Access to sensitive "For Official Use Only" (FOUO) and Law Enforcement Sensitive (LES) shared by Fusion Centers, DHS, and other Federal Partners
- 24/7 situational awareness tools to ensure awareness and coordination during regional and national level incidents
- Ability to respond promptly to state and local partner requests for information

Minimum Eligibility Requirements

- 1 Be a U.S. Citizen
- 2 Be a full-time, current employee of a law enforcement, criminal justice, intelligence, or homeland security government agency
- 3 Directly support information and intelligence analysis, sharing, or collection activities
- 4 Be associated with a fusion center, as verified by the fusion center, or other centralized intelligence capability (i.e. RISS center, HIDTA, EPIC, NORTHCOM, etc.) recognized by the HSIN-Intel Program Office
- 5 Have a government email address

Governance

HSIN-Intel is governed by the HSIN Working Group, which is comprised of fusion center professionals representing the four National Network of Fusion Center regions.
