Comment Response Document, Chapter 1

PUBLIC COMMENT PROCESS

This chapter of the Comment Response Document describes the public comment process for the National Bio and Agro-Defense Facility (NBAF) Draft Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) and the procedures used in responding to those comments. Section 1.1 describes the various means through which comments were acquired. Section 1.2 discusses the public meeting format used to gather comments from the public. Section 1.3 describes the organization of this document and explains how the comments were categorized, addressed, and documented. Section 1.4 provides guidance to assist readers in locating comments and DHS responses. Section 1.5 presents the major issues raised in a majority of comments. In Section 1.6, the chapter concludes with a list of significant changes to the EIS resulting from public comments.

1.1 INTRODUCTION

In June 2008, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) published the National Bio and Agro-Defense Facility (NBAF) Draft Environmental Impact Statement (EIS), which analyzed six action alternatives as well as a No Action Alternative. The action alternatives include construction and operation of the proposed NBAF at one of the following site alternatives: (1) South Milledge Avenue Site, Athens, Georgia; (2) Manhattan Campus Site, Manhattan, Kansas; (3) Flora Industrial Park Site, Flora, Mississippi; (4) Plum Island Site, Plum Island, New York; (5) Umstead Research Farm Site, Butner, North Carolina; and (6) Texas Research Park Site, San Antonio, Texas. Under the No Action Alternative, the NBAF would not be constructed and DHS would continue to use the Plum Island Animal Disease Center with necessary investments in facility upgrades, replacements, and repairs so that it could continue to operate at its current capability, but not meet the expanded mission requirements associated with the NBAF.

The 60-day public comment period on the NBAF Draft EIS began on June 27, 2008, and ended on August 25, 2008 (73 FR 36540). All comments received during the comment period were considered.

During the comment period, 13 public meetings were held in the following locations: Washington, DC (one meeting); Butner, North Carolina (two meetings); Manhattan, Kansas (two meetings); Flora, Mississippi (two meetings); San Antonio, Texas (two meetings); Old Saybrook, Connecticut (one meeting); Greenport, New York (one meeting); and Athens, Georgia (two meetings). Figure 1.1–1 shows the locations and dates of the meetings.

Estimated attendance and the number of oral commentors at each public meeting together with the number of comments recorded and identified in each meeting transcript, are presented in Table 1.1-1.

In addition, the public was encouraged to provide comments via mail, toll-free fax or telephone, or via e-mail. Comments received by mail and fax were date stamped; comments received by e-mail have the date automatically included. Comments received by telephone were transcribed and included a time stamp in the message. Chapter 2 of this appendix contains copies of the comment documents DHS received, as well as transcripts of the oral comments made at the public meetings and by telephone. DHS received over 1,600 comment documents related to the NBAF Draft EIS. Table 1.1–2 provides an overview of the number of comment documents submitted by each method. DHS received a small number of comment documents that were postmarked before the end of the comment period (August 25, 2008), but were not delivered to the NBAF Program Office in time for publication in the CRD. DHS did consider the comments and posted the comments and responses on the NBAF web page (www.dhs.gov/nbaf) as part of the CRD. Additionally, comments that were postmarked after August 25, 2008 were reviewed and considered to the maximum extent practicable during the development of the Final EIS.

1.2 PUBLIC MEETING FORMAT

Each public meeting began with a one-hour open house to allow attendees the opportunity to view informational materials, register to present oral comments, and speak informally with subject matter experts. The open house was followed by a presentation on the NBAF Draft EIS. At each public meeting, the presentation on the NBAF Draft EIS was made by James V. Johnson, DHS Science and Technology Directorate, Director of the Office of National Laboratories; an overview of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) mission was presented by a representative of the USDA, and a discussion of the findings in the Draft EIS was given by Charles Pergler, Deputy Manager for the EIS. After the presentation, there was a brief period for clarifying questions and then a formal comment period. A court reporter prepared a verbatim transcript of the proceedings and recorded all comments presented by the public.

Both the question and answer period and the formal oral comment period were delineated as part of the comment response process. Attendees who wished to provide oral comments at the hearing were asked to sign up in advance, and they were recognized in the order in which they signed up.

1.3 ORGANIZATION OF THIS COMMENT RESPONSE DOCUMENT

This Comment Response Document (CRD) has been organized into the following chapters:

- Chapter 1 describes the public comment process and contains: a list of oral commentors at the public meetings; an index of categories and codes; an index of all commentors who submitted oral or written comments; and the comment document and comment response locators to assist readers in using this CRD.
- Chapter 2 is comprised of scanned copies of the comments received during the public comment period, along with the corresponding responses. This chapter is provided on a compact disk (CD) due to its size and to facilitate searches.

Tables are provided at the end of this chapter to assist commentors and other readers in locating individual comments. Individual comments were identified within each comment document and coded by issue category. Table 1.3–1 lists the issue categories and corresponding codes. Where applicable, the following code extensions were used to identify comments related to a specific location:

- | | |
|---|--|
| X.1 Plum Island Site (New York) | X.4 Manhattan Campus Site (Kansas) |
| X.2 South Milledge Avenue Site (Georgia) | X.5 Flora Industrial Park Site (Mississippi) |
| X.3 Umstead Research Farm Site (North Carolina) | X.6 Texas Research Park Site |

For example, a comment having to do with air quality at the Manhattan Campus Site would be coded as 9.4.

Table 1.3–2 identifies the individuals who presented oral comments at the public meetings along with the page numbers where the transcript can be found, and the DHS response to their comment. Commentors who submitted their comments via e-mail, telephone, fax, U.S. mail, or as hand-ins at public meetings can locate their comment documents and the DHS responses to their comments by using Tables 1.3–3 through 1.3–6. Table 1.3–3 lists members of the general public alphabetically by last name along with the page numbers where they can find their comment documents and the DHS responses to their comments. Table 1.3–4 lists state and local officials and agencies, companies, organizations, and special interest groups that submitted comments along with the page number where they can find the comment document and the DHS responses to their comments. Table 1.3-5 lists the campaign comment documents, i.e., those submitted as part of an organized campaign, and the page number where the documents and DHS responses are located. These campaigns were conducted by various organizations and special interest groups to encourage individuals to separately submit the same or substantively similar comments. One copy of each campaign document is included in Chapter 2. Table 1.3-6 lists documents signed by more than one individual, along with the page number where these documents and the DHS responses to comments are found. The page numbers given in Tables 1.3–2 through 1.3–6 refer to the first page on which the comment document appears.

1.4 HOW TO USE THIS COMMENT RESPONSE DOCUMENT

In order to locate a specific comment and DHS response, the reader must first determine the type of comment document. Comment documents are designated according to the method in which they were provided to DHS and are separated into the following five tables:

- Table 1.3-2 (see page 1-8) – This table includes oral comments given by all commentors at the Draft EIS Public Meetings and are separated by meeting location and session (afternoon and evening), where applicable. The list within each session is organized in alphabetical order of the commentor’s last name.
- Table 1.3-3 (see page 1-18) – This table lists the private individuals, not representing an organization, who submitted comments by fax, phone, e-mail, U.S. mail, or documents submitted at the Draft EIS Public Meetings. The list is organized in alphabetical order of the commentor’s last name.
- Table 1.3-4 (see page 1-46) – This table includes organizations or public officials submitting comments by fax, phone, e-mail, U.S. mail, or documents submitted at the Draft EIS Public Meetings. The list is organized in alphabetical order of the organization’s (including elected or appointed office) name.
- Table 1.3-5 (see page 1-55) – This table includes written campaign documents and petitions submitted by fax, e-mail, U.S. mail, or documents submitted at the Draft EIS Public Meetings. The signatory list within each document and petition is organized in alphabetical order of the signer’s last name.
- Table 1.3-6 (see page 1-104) – This table includes written submittals with multiple signatures, excluding campaign documents and petitions, submitted by fax, e-mail, U.S. mail, or documents submitted at the Draft EIS Public Meetings. The signatory list within each document is organized in alphabetical order of the signer’s last name.

Once the type of comment document has been determined, locate the commentor’s or organization’s name in the corresponding table from the list above. The tables provide the page numbers associated with each commentor’s or organization’s document as it appears in Chapter 2 of Appendix H. Once the page number of the desired comment document has been located in the tables, then find the corresponding file (see the table below). This file can then be opened from Appendix H of the attached CD. Adobe Acrobat Reader[®] is provided on the CD if it needs to be installed. Individual comment documents have been further separated into specific issue category comments (see Table 1.3-1 on page 1-4). These comments are indicated by sidebars identifying the issue code assigned to each comment. The DHS response to each comment is located on the same page to allow the reader to easily view the identified comment’s response.

For example, if Ms. Victoria Bradsher wanted to view her written comments, she would follow the following steps:

1. Ms. Bradsher submitted a comment as an individual and would therefore find the page number of her comment document in Table 1.3-3, which shows that Ms. Bradsher’s comment document appears in Chapter 2 (page 2-474).

2. Ms. Bradsher refers to the table below to determine which PDF file has page 2-474 (Chapter 2_12).
3. Ms. Bradsher opens the attached CD to the Appendix H folder and opens the PDF file Chapter2_12 to page 2-474.
4. Once Ms. Bradsher locates her comment document, she will see that specific comments within her comment document have been coded per the issue categories listed in Table 1.3-1 (Issue Categories) and side-bars are used to identify these coded comments. The coded comments within Ms. Bradsher’s comment document include issue category 21.0 (Accidents, Threat, and Risk) and issue category 23.0 (Design, Construction, Operation, and Decommissioning of the NBAF). The DHS responses to Ms. Bradsher designated comments are located on the same page opposite from the comment, marked with corresponding comment numbers and issue codes.

1.5 MAJOR ISSUES IN COMMENTS RECEIVED DURING THE PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD ON THE NBAF DRAFT EIS

DHS received over 1,600 comment documents and phone calls during the 60-day comment period (June 27 through August 25, 2008) on the NBAF Draft EIS, in addition to 17 different campaign letters and petitions, which yielded over 6,800 signatures. DHS also hosted 13 public meetings, which were attended by more than 1,770 individuals, 378 of whom provided oral comments. Analysis of the oral and written comment documents yielded more than 5,400 delineated comments. The majority of the comments on the NBAF Draft EIS related to the following concerns:

- The ability of DHS, and the federal government in general, to safely operate a biosafety facility such as the NBAF.
- The potential for a pathogenic release to occur through accidents, natural phenomena, and terrorist actions.
- The May 2008 U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) report, which concluded that DHS had not conducted or commissioned a study to determine whether foot and mouth disease (FMD) research could be conducted safely on the U.S. mainland.
- Natural phenomena such as tornadoes, earthquakes, and hurricanes which could cause catastrophic damage to the NBAF and result in the release of a pathogen.
- The possibility that an infected mosquito vector could escape, allowing a pathogen such as Rift Valley fever virus to become permanently established in the United States.
- The economic effects of a release or a perceived release on the local, state, and national livestock industry.
- The effects of a release on local deer populations and effects on the hunting industry.
- Transportation of infectious agents and the release of pathogens due to a transportation-related accident.
- The NBAF being a prime terrorist target and DHS's inability to adequately protect the facility and surrounding community from such an attack.
- The release of a pathogen due to human error.
- Disgruntled employees having the ability to cause an intentional accident or steal pathogens.
- Appropriate funding to safely construct and operate the NBAF would not be available.
- Use of the NBAF to manufacture bioweapons.
- The need for and effects of mosquito control and spraying of insecticides.
- The site selection process and the evaluation criteria used to identify the Preferred Alternative.
- Waste management regarding carcass disposal effects on local sewage treatment infrastructure from alkaline hydrolysis, and the effects to air quality from incineration.
- Pollution of ground or surface water resources due to spills and leaks.
- Particularly in Georgia and North Carolina, the amount of water that would be used by the NBAF in light of the current regional drought.
- In Georgia, the proximity of the South Milledge Avenue Site to the State Botanical Gardens, the Audubon-designated Important Bird Area, and the Oconee River.
- In North Carolina, institutionalized populations were not adequately considered in the EIS analysis.
- In New York, limited routes from the area should an accident requiring evacuation occur.
- In Kansas, the number of cattle in the region and the disastrous effects of a release.

1.6 MAJOR CHANGES TO THE NBAF EIS

The NBAF Final EIS has been revised in response to public comments, availability of new data, and to correct errors and omissions. The resulting changes are indicated by a vertical sidebar in the margin of the NBAF Final EIS. The most significant changes include:

- The summary tables in the Executive Summary and Chapter 2 have been modified. All site alternatives show a moderate effect to air quality and water resources, and the South Milledge Avenue Site Alternative now shows a moderate effect to land use.
- The Manhattan Campus Site Alternative now shows a radial design scheme.
- The Flora Industrial Park Site Alternative figures have been revised to show the correct project boundary.
- Construction of the NBAF at the South Milledge Avenue Site was not consistent with the Clarke County Comprehensive Plan. Sections 3.2.3 and 3.2.3.3.1 were revised to acknowledge the conflict and include the Comprehensive Plan land use designation.
- Potential mitigation measures to address nighttime lighting effects on wildlife and surrounding residents that could be incorporated into the final design of the NBAF were added to the resource Sections 3.2, 3.8, and 3.15 under Operation Consequences for each of the site alternatives.
- DHS cited a report prepared by the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL) estimating the potential economic loss due to an outbreak of FMD for each of the site alternatives evaluated in the NBAF Draft EIS. The LLNL analysis was an independent study and had no direct relationship to the analysis and scenarios developed as part of the Draft EIS. As such, revisions were made to Section 3.10.09 and Appendix D, which includes a summary of case studies, including the LLNL report, on the economic effects of an accidental release of FMD virus and Rift Valley fever virus. Additionally, language was added acknowledging the limitations of the results based on necessary assumptions.
- New information regarding the economic effects of hunting on the communities that could potentially be affected by construction and operation of the NBAF was incorporated in Section 3.8.9. The information was used to evaluate the economic effects of an accidental release of a pathogen such as the FMD virus on hunting.
