

The President's National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee

Committee Member Biography The President's National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee

John G. Stratton
Executive Vice President and President of Operations
Verizon Communications

Mr. John Stratton is executive vice president and president of operations for Verizon Communications. He is responsible for overseeing and growing Verizon's wireless and wireline businesses, which include Verizon Wireless, Consumer and Mass Business, Verizon Enterprise Solutions, and Verizon Partner Solutions. Prior to his current role, Mr. Stratton was executive vice president and president of Verizon Communications Global Enterprise and Consumer Wireline and president of Verizon Enterprise Solutions. Mr. Stratton has been with Verizon for 18 years, previously serving as executive vice president and COO of Verizon Wireless. His previous roles at the company include chief marketing officer, president of Northwest operations, president of Philadelphia region operations, and vice president for marketing at Bell Atlantic Mobile. Prior to joining Verizon, he held several senior management positions in the consumer electronics industry. Mr. Stratton is a graduate of Harvard Business School's Advanced Management Program.

