

The President's National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee

Committee Member Biography

The President's National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee

Christopher Young
Senior Vice President and
General Manager of the Intel Security Group
Intel Corporation

Mr. Christopher Young has served as the senior vice president and general manager of the Intel Security Group at Intel Corporation since 2014. In this role, he leads Intel's security business across hardware and software platforms, including McAfee and Intel's other security assets. Prior to joining Intel, Mr. Young was the senior vice president of Cisco's Security Business Group, where he oversaw strategy, engineering, and product development for the company's global security business.

Before that, Mr. Young served as senior vice president and general manager at VMware, where he led the company's engineering, product development, and marketing for desktop virtualization, consumer, and end user offerings. He also served as senior vice president of products for RSA, the security division of EMC Corporation. Mr. Young currently sits on the board of directors of Rapid7. He has been recognized as one of the "100 Most Influential Blacks in Corporate America" by Savoy Magazine, and has received an Achievement Award from the Black Engineer of the Year organization. Mr. Young holds a bachelor's degree from Princeton University and a master's degree in business administration from the Harvard Business School.