462060	3/10/2006	Congressman Jack Kingston	Rep. Kingston requests that DHS review the points raised by (b)(6) his constituent who was a 20.5 year veteran Sr. Chemist at US Customs (which became CBP). (b)(6) declares that as a whistle blower, his actions and statements were ruled "protected" by the WPA and an Administrative Judge but that the agency claimed it "had a right that exceeds" the rights of the whistle-blower." He says his supervisor ordered him to work samples improperly, or "against the International Standardization Organization (ISO) standards," which he was supposed to use. Then his supervisors told him to cover-up their non-compliance. He charges that his supervisors then charged him with "More Serious Discipline or an Adverse Action, but did not follow proper guidelines and procedures. Guidelines require that charges must be reviewed within 24-hours of receipt by headquarters and investigated, referred or closed. Instead, the constituent claims, (b)(6) a Labor Relations Specialist at headquarters, simply forwarded "raw, deceitful and untrue" allegations to the Discipline Review Board, which acted on the charges as if they had been investigated. Brown concludes by saying that if his agency had investigated the case they would have found that: 1) he was following the orders of the agency, against the orders of his supervisors; 2) that he had filed an EEO case against his supervisors for assigning him to "metals and stone samples" when he is a Sr. Chemist; 3) that he was not trained on-the-job, as the supervisors claimed; 4) that he did not have the opportunity to face his accusers on unrelated charges; and 5) since (b)(6) circumvented the disciplinary process, he was caught off-guard and unaware of charges against him until he returned from a needed vacation, since he worked 60-hour weeks. He asks Rep. Kingston to: 1) call for an investigation as
