Advisor, Information Sharing, I&A

Description:

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) seeks to bring in one or more Loaned Executive(s) to advise the Office of Intelligence and Analysis (I&A) on the development of a joint public-private intelligence and analysis pilot program for financial services sector banks designated as Section 9.

The pilot will include Section 9 bank representation, I&A analyst(s), virtual participation from U.S. Department of Treasury, and tentatively the National Security Agency. Pilot participants will work together in a classified environment to understand Section 9 bank needs and establish intelligence production processes that meet those needs to the extent possible. This effort is in direct support of Presidential Policy Directive-21 –to “collaborate on intelligence and other sensitive or proprietary information related to critical infrastructure.”

Length:

The position is a six-month assignment with the option for a six-month renewal. During this time, the loaned executive(s) will serve as a subject matter expert for I&A.

Work Schedule:

The loaned executive (s) will work via temporary employment, as defined in 5 CFR § 304.102. The work schedule is full-time.

Component:

I&A

Location:

Washington, DC

Duties and Responsibilities:

- Analyze intelligence information sharing needs of Section 9 banks.
- Recommend alternatives and/or develop enhancements to existing processes, policies, and procedures in the area of intelligence information sharing with Section 9 banks.
